

Re: Complaint Filed Over ‘Fresh Breath’ Email (Appeared in Thunder Bay Chronicle Journal, September 19th, 2012)

As a Métis Canadian, former instructor of Aboriginal Education at Lakehead University, and someone who still views Thunder Bay as a second home, I find myself troubled and saddened by the police force and mayor’s recent response to the public relations “gaffe” related to the murder of Mr. Adam Yellowhead. At best, their initial actions and subsequent indignance towards the public outcry and family’s allegations of human rights’ violations, reflect callous indifference. At worst, mean spirited prejudice. I stand beside those in Thunder Bay who are speaking out against this disrespectful injustice and continuing the important work of increasing authentic intercultural understanding, cooperation, and respect.
